

Rahul Dogra

Rahul Dogra has over thirty years of senior management and leadership experience for organizations in the for profit and not-for-profit sectors. Rahul currently works as an international management and leadership instructor working with clients globally, including Europe, the Middle East, Africa and India. He operates across sectors, including banking, industrial, nuclear, government and military as well as in supranational organizations such as the United Nations.

Rahul has developed and delivered programs on a wide array of management and leadership topics, working closely with clients to design custom-made learning solutions to meet strategic challenges. His approach to facilitation is hands-on and experiential, providing participants with practical tools and approaches to help them manage real-life organizational changes and challenges.

In addition to his work as a consultant and facilitator, Rahul is an experienced executive coach, having worked 1-1 with individuals in delivering strategy and transitioning into management and leadership positions.

Rahul is also a co-author of “Navigate – The Executive Leadership Journey” (2015).

Examples of Rahul’s work:

- Developed and implemented a customer service competency training across the United Nations Operational Support team.
- Implemented a middle management program for rising leaders in National Bank of Kuwait.
- Worked within a large global industrial organization, Emerson, to implement best practices towards operating within their matrix structure.
- Developed and implemented programmes with London Business School
