

Executive Coach Profile: Delia Lloyd

Coaching Philosophy, what coaching means to me:	Through her enthusiastic, hands-on approach, Delia empowers people to write, speak and lead more effectively. What makes her coaching distinctive is that she thinks with the logic and rigor of a social scientist, but communicates with the flair and fluidity of a journalist. This dual emphasis on coherence and accessibility permeates her approach to helping you craft your message, whether you are crafting a blog, presenting a keynote speech, writing a research report, or leading a team.
Location & Languages	UK, English, Spanish
Executive coaching experience	Delia has coached senior executives, senior researchers, and thought leaders globally on blogging, business writing, and public speaking.
Work Experience	Delia holds a PhD. in political science from Stanford University and has taught public policy and international development at MIT and The University of Chicago. During 2001-2, she was a Senior Development Adviser at the United States Treasury Department, where she was a Council on Foreign Relations International Affairs Fellow. Delia spent five years as the Head of Policy and Research Insight at BBC Media Action, the BBC's International development charity, where she was in charge of editing and disseminating policy and research outputs. A seasoned journalist, Delia's reporting and commentaries have appeared in outlets including The New York Times, The Financial Times, The Washington Post and The BBC World Service. Her popular personal blog, RealDelia, explores the journey of adulthood, and she is a regular contributor at Better After 50, Sixty and Me, and This Curious Life.
Testimonials	“Working with her exceeded all my expectations...I cannot recommend her enough to anyone looking to communicate their ideas more effectively. “Working with Delia...has been invaluable – ‘a game changer’.” “I was blown away by how constructive and helpful her feedback was.” “Delia is an exceptionally engaging instructor with a laser sharp focus on the person and a keen sense of their strengths and development needs.”

	“Literally the most useful and practically helpful session I have had on my writing throughout my entire...career.”
Coaching Accreditations	<ul style="list-style-type: none">● Coaching; mentoring; creative facilitation training (BBC)● Creative Practice training (LifeBeat)