

About Bhavnisha Parmar aka Bhav

Bhavnisha (aka Bhav) is an actress and voiceover artist with over 7 years of experience in the creative industry. Her journey has included working in live and on-screen settings, with the likes of the BBC, HSBC, PWC, McKinsey and Co (NY), Lloyds Banking Group, Apple, Unilever, Deloitte and many more.

Her role play experience spans from medical companies right the way through to fintech organisations. Working collaboratively and closely with employees and leaders, Bhav has been involved in forum theatre, hot seating, verbal and written evaluations as well as assisting group led discussions.

Bhav has loved having the opportunity to work up and down the UK, in Europe and countries further afield, on short term and long-term projects.

Her passion for development, learning and engagement across cultures is certainly central to her work and something she is excited to cultivate in the years ahead. She regularly indulges in challenges, especially around confidence and behavioral growth, asking the tough questions, all the while having fun and bringing some laughter to the table!
